GREAT AMERICAN REMEDY.

VEGETABLE DYSPEPSIA BITTERS, a pure, speedy and permanent cure for Dyspepsia in its worst form. This medicine can be found to cure all complaints arising from disorders of the stomach and bowels, biliousness, yellowness of the skin, Liver complaints, Debility, Headache, Nervousness, Low Spirits, Puffing of the Heart, Costiveness, &c. &c. Please read the following certificate:

Read the following from an eminent physician:
"The undersigned being acquainted with some of the ingredients of Hutchings' Vegetable Dyspepsia Bitters, and having used it for some time in his practice with every desired effect, he recommends this medicine from the certainty of its effect, and gives it a preference over all preparations in medicine for that distressing complaint, Dyspepsia." T. HARDENBERGH, M. D.,
No. 1 Beach street, N. Y.

From Luther A. Wyman, Esq., late President of New York Medical Society, now of Brooklyn:
"The undersigned was afflicted with Dyspepsia of the worst form for one year and a half, during a greater portion of which he made use of no remedies, but suffered the disease to run its course, until he was recommended to try Hutchings' Dyspepsia Bitters; he very soon derived benefit from the use of a few bottles of this medicine and now considers himself entirely well."

"The undersigned has every confidence in the efficacy of Hutchings' Bitters for the cure of this troublesome and dangerous complaint, and he has no hesitation in recommending it as a most valuable medicine."
L. D. WYMAN,
N. York, Sept. 3, 1878 38 Hurling Slip.

The following certificate is from Mr. Brady, the celebrated Daguerriotypist:

"Having been afflicted severely with Dyspepsia, together with extreme weakness he was advised to take Hutchings' Dyspepsia Bitters, and have every reason to believe it has perfectly cured me. I have felt no symptoms of a return of the disease, and believe from the effect it had on me that it will cure the worst cases of Dyspepsia." M. H. BRADY,
No. 205 Broadway, N. Y.

The Proprietor of this medicine has received many other certificates of cures, equally remarkable, of the various diseases for which this preparation is applicable; but the above are deemed necessary to satisfy any unprejudiced mind of its value and superiority above all other preparations.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE,

E. LITTELL & Co., cor. of Tremont and Broad-field streets, Boston.

This work is conducted in the spirit of Littell's "Living Age," which was favorably received by the public for twenty years, but as it is twice as large and appears so often, the editor not only gives spirit and freshness to it by many things which were excluded by a month's delay, but while extending its scope and gathering a greater and more attractive variety, is able to increase the solid and substantial part of his literary, historical, and political harvest, as fully to satisfy the wants of the American reader.
The classic and state essays of the Edinburgh, Quarterly, and other Reviews; and Blackburne's able criticisms on Russian, his keen political Commentaries, highly wrought tales, and vivid descriptions of rural and mountain scenery; and the contributions to Literature, History, and Common Life, by the eloquent Spectator, the sparkling Examiner, the judicious Athenaeum, the pen and the industrious Literary Gazette, the serious and comprehensive Britannia, the sober and respectable Christian Observer, these are intermixed with the Military and Naval reminiscences of the United Service, and with the best articles of the Dublin University, New Monthly, Fraser's, Tait's, Ainsworth's, Hood's, and Sporting Magazines, and of Chambers' admirable Journal. He does not consider it beneath his dignity to borrow wit and wisdom from Punch; and, when he thinks good enough, makes use of the thunder of the Times.

The steamship has brought Europe, Asia, and Africa, into our neighborhood; and will greatly multiply our connections, as Merchants, Travelers, and Politicians, with all parts of the world; so that much more than ever it now becomes every intelligent American to be informed of the condition and change of foreign countries. And this not only because of their nearer connection with ourselves, but because the nations, as they are hastening through a rapid process of change, to some new state of things, which the merely political prophet cannot compute or foresee.

Geographical Discoveries, the progress of Colonization, [which is extending over the whole world,] and Voyages and Travels, afford favorite matter for his selections; and, in general, the editor systematically and very fully acquaints his readers with the great department of Foreign affairs, without neglecting our own.

While the Living Age is so desirable to all who to keep themselves informed of the rapid progress of the movement to St. Louis, Divines, Lawyers, and Physicians, to men of business and men of leisure, it will be found to be equally attractive and useful to their wives and children. It is indispensable to every well-informed family. We say indispensable, because in this day of cheap literature it is not possible to guard against the influx of what is bad in taste and vicious in morals, in any other way than by furnishing a sufficient supply of a healthy character. The mental and moral appetite must be gratified.

By "winnowing the wheat from the chaff," by providing abundantly for the imagination, and by a large collection of Biography, Voyages and Travels, History, and more solid matter, a work is produced, well calculated for universal popularity, and to raise the standard of public taste.

This excellent work is published every Saturday, by E. LITTELL & Co., Boston, who supply orders by mail from all parts of the country. Remit any sum to them, and they will send the work to that amount. Each number makes a handsome complete of 48 pages double octavo. Price, 12-12 cts. - by mail, six dollars. We will send to our own readers, at a price which our readers will infinitely more, a letter from the late Ex-President J. Q. Adams.

"WASHINGTON, 27th December, 1845.

"Of all the Periodicals devoted to Literature and Science which abound in Europe and this country, this has appeared to me to be the most useful. It contains indeed the exposition of the current literature of the English language, but this by its immense extent and comprehension includes a perusal of the human mind in the utmost expansion of the present age."

From the Boston Character.

Consumption is the great curse of our northern climate. It is the blight of domestic felicity and the destroyer of beauty. It robs the cheek of its rosy bloom, and the hand of its strength, and the eye of its brilliancy. It wastes the form, dims the intellect, and plunges its victim into an early grave. The young and old, the vigorous and the gray, the healthy and the country lass, are alike its prey, and its victims. Blessings on the man, then, whose genius and research furnished us weapons to his defence to this "Dweller of the Threshold." He merits the applause and grateful remembrance of all who are afflicted with this warfare of ages - he shall have ours, at least.

WRIGHT'S INDIA VEGETABLE PILLS.

WRIGHT'S INDIA VEGETABLE PILLS. SUG-GAR FRUITED. - The Proprietor of this singular Family Medicine, thankful for the extensive and increasing favor with which it is received, and feeling anxious to make every improvement in his power, begs leave to announce, that he has adjusted an OUTSIDE FROSTING to the pills, or pure White Sugar, whereby everything disagreeable to the taste or smell is entirely removed, without in the smallest degree affecting, in other respects, the excellent qualities of the medicine. - The want of an innocent and convenient medium of disguising the Pills, so generally felt, is thus supplied, and it is confidently anticipated that the frosting will prove highly acceptable to the public.
The occasional use of medicine is a matter of necessity with the great majority of mankind.
Whatever, therefore, is done to remove its disagreeable associations, is a public benefit. This valuable of Wright's Indian vegetable Pills is well understood. Innocent and efficacious, free from the circumstances and condition of life, they are entirely beyond all other remedies, as the greatest family medicine of the day. The frosting, including an addition intended merely to conceal the taste and smell. These Pills will also continue to be prepared without the frosting, as heretofore, so that all who prefer them in their original state, may still be accommodated.

CAUTION. - The ordinary dose for a grown person is from two to four Pills; but in cases of violent pain, in any part of the day, the medicine should be taken in large doses, and repeated every night on going to bed, (or after an enough is given,) until pain, or distress of every kind is removed; after which, the medicine should be taken merely with a view to keeping the bowels regular which will in a short time restore the body to a state of sound health.

accompanying each box.

TUESDAY MORNING, DEC. 17, 1880.

Persons who vote by the payment of a Registry Tax are reminded that if they wish the privilege of voting during the coming year, 1881, they must pay their Tax by the last day of this month. The Collector of Taxes, Oliver Read, Esq., has received the Tax Book, and will be at his house, No. 230 Thames Street, corner of Fair, from the 24th to the 31st, inclusive, of this month, from 12 M. until 6 P. M., for the purpose of receiving said Tax. All persons whose names have been registered, should be sure to call and pay their Tax before the time expires; if they neglect doing this, they will be deprived of voting next year, no matter what important elections may take place. We hope our Whig friends will attend to this matter, without delay.

In the second column of yesterday's leader, after the fifty-third line, read, "just as the English government had thrown off the tyranny of the Pope, to establish the tyranny of the Bishops, they threw off the tyranny of the Bishops, to establish the tyranny of the brethren." The words in italics were accidentally omitted in the article.

Wednesday is the last opportunity persons will have to subscribe to the American Art Union, this year; see advertisement in another column.

Is Love Blind?—There is nothing so clear-sighted. It exalts our nature to their highest capability, enabling us to decipher truths which are illegible to the normal sense. It has given moments of subtle wisdom to the dullest; moments of impassioned eloquence to the coldest. We are strangers when we love, because Love is not only the most energetic, but the most elevating of passions. We see most clearly then, because our perceptions are so intensified by the intensity of the feeling. We are affected as in mesmerism, and Love is the clairvoyance of the heart.

But there is always a meaning in old adages, and in that of "Love is blind," there is a truth. The blindness spoken of is blindness to all consequences, disregard of all collateral, reckless oblivion of whatever is foreign to it. The intensity of the shadow is proportioned to the intensity of the light. Everything that comes within the rays of Love is wondrously vivid; the rest is darkness. Love sees all it cares to see. It is not blind; but it will only look straightforward. All energetic passions not as blinkers.

Tax Pin and the Needle.—A pin and a needle being neighbors in a work basket, and both being idle, began to quarrel, as idle folks are apt to do. "I should like to know," said the pin, "what you are good for, and how you expect to get through the world without a head?" "What is the use of your head?" replied the needle, rather sharply. "If you have no eye?" "What is the use of an eye?" said the pin, "if there is always something in it?" "I am more active, and can go through more work than you can," said the needle. "Yes, but you will not live long." "Why not?" "Because you have always a stitch in your side," said the pin. "And you are so proud that you can't bend without breaking your back." "I'll pull your head off if you insult me again." "I'll pull your eye out if you touch me; remember your life hangs by a single thread," said the pin.

While they were thus conversing a little girl entered, and, undertaking to sew, she soon broke off the needle at the eye. Then she tied the thread around the neck of the pin, and attempting to sew with it, she soon pulled its head off, and threw it into the dirt by the side of the broken needle. "Well, here we are," said the needle. "We have nothing to fight about now," said the pin.

"A pity we had not come to them sooner," said the needle. "How much we resemble human beings, who quarrel about their blessings till they lose them, and never find out that they are brothers till they lie down in the dust together, as we do."

A question for the Spike Society.—Would the devil beat his wife, if he had one?—Yankee Blade.

Guess not for women generally beat the d—l.—London Post.

There is a contentment and beauty about the flower which all men desire to have. And yet, which few can grow. It blooms not for the man who spends his life in hoarding gold. Nor yet, for him who dissipates his gold upon himself. It thrives not with the man who lives the beggar from his door. Nor yet, with him who treats with scorn the humble and the poor. It blossoms near the working man. Who, early, onward goes. Who eats no bread but what he earns. And toils but what he loves.

CONTENTMENT flourishes with him Who, when his journey's over, Can say he lived a righteous life. What needs a mortal more?

Death is silent.—In the city, while men are brawling in the crowded streets, death is entering the secret chambers, and friends are pallid by the couches of the breathless, or love is drinking in the sigh which bears the soul to heaven. Death is silent; those whose every look spoke to us in life, pass from our sight as the shadow from the dial, and the music of their words become sad echoes in the distance of our memory. Death is silent. Living hatred thunders in the strife of war, but when the contest is over, death, grim and speechless, is monarch of the field. Death is silent.

Tempests shriek madly upon ocean, and many are they who sink with this requiem into their fathomless grave; but from the depths of that sublime sepulchre, no sound comes back to tell of those who perished. Death is silent, yet not so entirely; silent it is to the ear, but not always to the heart. Our brethren are still bound to us, and though dead, they have not ceased to be. There is much to be felt and learned where they rest.

Humility has instruction from the proud man's monument, and content a lesson from the vanity that overrules his clay. There is pathos in the solitude where the stranger sleeps; there is music in the silence of his unlettered grave; there is beauty in the poor man's epitaph, inscribed honestly by affection; there is sublimity in the rude sculpture of the peasant's tomb, when it is the effort to symbolize an immortal faith. And it is such faith which takes terror from the power of death, and despite from the silence of the grave. There is that in us which is not all clay. That which belongs to earth, must go to earth; but when earth claims and gets back its atoms, God gathers up and calls home his spirits.—Rev. Henry Giles.

Soon after the union of ye Prince Albert in ye Queen Victoria, they had a serious quarrel on the subject of shirt buttons. It appears that the young Queen did not pay that attention to her husband's linen it demanded; hence the row. To punish her, the Prince quitted the presence, and took refuge under the roof of his venerable friend the Duke of Wellington. That night the Queen was shocked at the Prince's not returning. Having ascertained his hiding-place, she repaired to it, and found him locked up in a room, doing the sulky. The Queen applied her royal knuckles to the door, and there came forth a sound, which, reaching the Prince's ear, he demanded to know who was there. "Her Majesty the Queen," was the reply, in an imperious tone. Prince Albert is still silent, and a little more sulky. The Queen waits some time and then stamps her chubby foot, and again knocks. "Who is there?" says the Prince; and this time he is told that it is the Queen Victoria who is knocking at that door, and can't come in. The Prince remains silent, but is not quite so sulky as at first. The Queen waits a little while, and raps again very gently. The Prince pops the same question he has twice before popped, and this time is told that his wife is the knocker. He abandons the sulky, opens the door, rushes into the Queen's arms, tickles her royal lips with his moustache, and they go to a breakfast of fried herrings with the Iron Duke.

They have had several little disagreements since the time of the occurrence of this one, but not one of them has reached the light in the authentic manner this has found its way into it. We give it to our readers for what it is worth; no doubt it will find its way into Macaulay's History.

The President and Postmaster General have decided that when Deputy Postmasters once become Executive appointments, requiring confirmation by the Senate, they remain so thereafter. This decision renders it necessary to submit to the Senate the nominations of numerous Postmasters now holding appointments from the Postmaster General alone, and it is thought many changes will occur amongst them.

Verdi has written fourteen, and Rossini thirty-seven operas.

Stabbing in New York. Mr. Woodbury Langdon, a well known fashionable, was attacked about noon Friday, at the corner of Tenth street and Broadway, by three Italians, with whom he had some financial difficulty. They attacked him with dirks, and in the fray he received four or five stabs in the breast, but having an overcoat and thick vest on, the dirks only penetrated the flesh slightly. Mr. Langdon knocked one of the ruffians down, when they all took to their heels. Mr. L. being considerably exhausted by loss of blood, was taken to his residence on a litter.

REMARKABLE INCIDENT. A singular occurrence happened in a village of Piedmont, N. H. last week. Two little children, one five and the other three years of age, having strayed from home, and not returning at dark, inquiries were made for them by their parents, and as no trace was found of them, a general search throughout the night was made by the people of the village. In the morning, the children were discovered in an open field, lying upon the frozen ground, locked in each other's arms, one sleeping soundly, and the other awake. Although the night was a severe one, the little ones have shown, as yet, no ill effects from the exposure. It is truly wonderful how two such little children could pass a winter's night upon the cold, frozen ground, without perishing.

A green horn passing along through Springfield, the other day, suddenly discovered a marble sign across the walk upon which appeared "D. K. Bliss, Apoheary." He looked at the grave stone, (as he termed it,) read "D. K. Bliss, Apoheary," and queried "Wot in thunder d' they bury him here, on the sidewalk, for?"

The President's Message.—We had commenced cutting out extracts from the Northern press, with a view to publish them, as indications of public opinion upon the Message, but were swamped. From every quarter there has rolled in a tide of approval, that has completely overwhelmed us. No Message since the time to which our memory goes back, has received such universal commendation—Democratic as well as Whig—Here and there the narrow bigotry of a Whig or Loco loco press has shown itself in a protestation, exception or saving clause, but the liberal and enlightened portion of the Whig press, and of the Democratic also, has spoken universally in its praise, and of its manner as well as of its matter. Mr. Fillmore takes rank with the first patriots and statesmen of the age, and has won a high place in the affections and esteem of the united American people.—Albany Register.

WHAT THEY THINK OF US?—The Liverpool Journal says:

"America exists to reprove and reform the world. There is a Providence in these things. The rough and ready republicans expand themselves over a universe—the Union has just been enlarged by territories as large as Europe, and already the new State of California exports half a million of gold a month, and prepares to open a new steam communication with China and Japan. The Pacific becomes the highway of nations, and enterprises unheard of approach maturity, while the ancient world is absorbed on the miserable subjects of divine rights and secretarian controversy. The majesty of civilization and commerce brightens regions rich and vast, while Europe pauses to parley with illegitimists and ancient nonentities. The Republic of America bids fair for the mastery of the universe and will achieve it."

MILLARD FILLMORE. When we intimated some months since that Millard Fillmore would probably be called directly by the popular voice to the seat he now occupies with so much honor, we were hardly prepared for so early and decided a manifestation of public sentiment in his favor as we now witness. Several of our contemporaries have already hoisted his standard, we expect to see it waving ere long at the masthead of many a gallant national vessel. The Winchester (Va.) Republican, Charleston Free Press and Bedford Sentinel in our own State, have given the Fillmore flag to the breeze, and are fighting bravely under its bright folds.—Richmond Republican.

The Revenue Service.—The Norfolk Courier says that "Captain John I. Nimmo, of that place, has been restored to the United States Revenue Service from which he was ejected by a demotion of the corps. It expects also to see Captains Wentcher and Breshwood restored."

In Press, and will be out Thursday. THE FIRST CHURCH IN PROVIDENCE. NOT THE OLDEST OF THE BAPTISTS IN AMERICA.

Attempted to be shown by the Rev. S. Adams, Pastor of the first Baptist Church in Newport, R. I. Such is the title of a pamphlet which is now in press and will be published in a few days; this most conclusively proves that the Church in Providence is not the oldest Baptist Church, but in this work the serious errors in the title of the First Church, and on its tablet in the Meeting House, are pointed out; and it is shown that instead of being the first Baptist Church established in this country, two others were constituted before it; but one of these being extinct, it is now the second in age of the Baptist denomination in America. For sale at the bookstores in this town; by Messrs. Farr, 2 South Main street; Gladding & Brothers, 100 Water street; and G. H.
